

Peter Willis
1232 S Broad St
Philadelphia PA 19146

Sep 5th 2018

Via ECFS
Marlene H. Dortch, Secretary
Federal Communications Commission
445 12th Street, S.W.
Washington, D.C. 20554

Re: In the Matter of Petition of USTelecom for Forbearance Pursuant to 47 U.S.C. Section 160(c); WC Docket No. 18-141; Category 1

Dear FCC,

I live in Philadelphia, a major metropolitan area, and I am forced to choose between basically just two internet providers: Comcast and Verizon.

Both of these companies want to charge me over $75 for basic internet service.

Both of these companies used predatory sales tactics on me, and tried to get me to agree to pay double the cost for unnecessary services, which I specifically told them I did not want!

I want my internet basic and SLOW-speed, but CHEAP! I don't need blazing fast or the newest gizmos. I just want basic internet and I don't want it to put a hole in my wallet.

I need reliable internet, too. I work from home. I don't need blazing speed, but I need it to always work, and I need it to be fixed quickly. Neither Comcast nor Verizon seem to be able to do these things.

Cable and Fiber are my only options for internet, because I don't have a phone line, and neither of my providers provide DSL. It would be nice to have extra options.

These same two providers I am stuck with will never make it easier for competitors to enter the marketplace. Please, don't deregulate the industry.

Peter Willis